The White Rabbit and the Little Wolf

Jey Carolina Ruiz

In a little town, there was a white rabbit, who was very beautiful, his tail was very fluffy, but his problem was that he wasn't humble.

Everyone in the town respected the white rabbit, he was so beloved, because nothing more than exterior beauty was approved.

In the same town, a little wolf lived too,
but unlike the rabbit, he was not understood.

The little wolf had an enormous scar on his face, and for all the people in the town, it was a disgrace.

The little wolf was belittled and mistreated because his appearance, people said they accepted everyone, but they didn't act with coherence.

His hair was black and it was always dirty,
since the little wolf lived in poverty.

One day, the village school caught fire,
and all the little children were inside.

Just the white rabbit and the little wolf were near the school,
The children waited for the rabbit to save them, but he acted like a fool.

The rabbit was afraid of burning his beautiful hair or hurting his long ears.
Then, he ran away from danger without helping children and without any cheer.

Instead, the little wolf who was not afraid of injuries,
He starred in one of his first victories.

Then, the little wolf entered the school and helped everyone, and in this way, the children called him the number one.

But when everyone was safe, the rabbit cameback,
and he said that he just went for a snack.

The rabbit said he was the hero because he was beautiful,
and everyone knew that it was indisputable.

the children's parents believed that it was the truth.
Immediately, the children said the hero was the other youth.

Then, the town's people understood about inner beauty,
that is most important than someone cutie.

True beauty lies within.