

Artist Showcase

Ana Olga Rallón

Q. What was your inspiration for the cover drawing?

A: When I sat down to do this drawing, the first thing I thought about was that the M.A. in Language Teaching helps teachers expand their horizons. Like, "Ah! This is what I was teaching". One discovers oneself and improves our teaching practices.

When I was adding the letters to the hair, I was thinking that Enletawa Journal doesn't focus just on articles. It is very diverse and opens horizons to other things like poems, pictures... You can take a picture and publish it! It opens the door to new artists, knowledges, opportunities to express who you are to others. I have felt that this journal accepts all types of talent. So the hair is meant to show that. A freedom of expression.

"You are looking into the future into better opportunities".
